Primo Beer and Sake Breweries Japanese Daily; Liquor Com-Rejected Applications.

Following extended discussion upon ings on the applications of T. Usui and Company and S. Ichiyama for whele and liquor licenses, the liquor license commission, at a special meeting yes terday, declined to reason the corpus for and on behalf of Rose Lockington.

A. K. Ozawa was present in the inter-ests of the applicants. He made a strong argument as based upon the in-dividuality of the applicants and the location for the proposed stores, but after a rather long session behind closed doors the commission decided to stand by its decision not to grant fur-ther wholesale liquor licenses in the business section of the city.

The application of Clifford Kimball for a beer-garden license at Leilehna was laid over until the next meeting, which will take place at half past three O'clock next Monday.

Charles Lambert proprietor of the Anchor Saloon was cited to appear before the commission next Monday to explain how one of his barkeepers, Henry Travers, happened to sell liquor to a drunken man on the night of Octo-

"Secret Connivances" Alleged.

"It is said that the reason why the wholerale licenses were denied to Usui & Co., Ltd., and S. Ichiyama is because there are a sufficient number of whole sale houses in Honolulu," said the sale houses in Honolulu," said the Shinpo, "but when we look into the inner side of the matter, we will be convinced that there are lots of secret connivances about this matter.

"Without knowing such inner tac-lies, it is useless to work hard to try to get licenses from the open. And to make these questions a matter of exampler comment is a very poor policy to adopt.
